THE WORLD'S FAIR

We gather the following items with reference to the Great Exhibition of 1851, from our foreign files : St. Helesa will contribute to the Crystal Palace three samples of native produce, viz: one of rock salt, one of raw cotton, and one of Carilla. Mr. Mitchell, an Edinburg engraver, in tends sending to the Exhibition a piece of gold so small that an ordinary pin's head will cover it; yet it contains the whole of the Lord's prayer.

A very large block of lead ore, being up. wards of seventeen hundred weight, and of first rate quality, has lately been raised by the Holmbosh Mining Company, and is to be placed in the Exhibition.

A Birmingham paper states that William Laugher, a nailmaker of Broomsgrove, has received orders to make 1000 gold, 1000 silver, and 1000 iron 'tacks,' for the Great Exhibition. The whole 3000 are not to weigh more than three grains, and they will be the smallest nails ever produced.

During the Fair, a monster Globe will be exhibited in the enclosed area in Leicester Square, the dimensions of which are as fol-

"The interior of the globe will be upwards of 60 feet in diameter, and the whole surface of the earth modelled with the greatest possible accuracy, embracing all the latest discoveries, upon a scale of ten miles to the inchharizontal, and one inch to the mile vertical; down in a way that each visitor to this highly interesting and scientific exhibition may become in an hour an entire cosmopolite."

Some idea may be formed of the extent of the undertaking, when the reader is inform. CHERRY PECTORAL and if any medicine ed, that appeards of 6000 blocks of the size named will be required to complete it.

A prize of 100 guineas has been offered for the best essay on the following subject.

"In what respect is the Union of all Nations at the Great Exhibition of 1851, calenlated to further the moral and religious wellfare of Mankind, and thus conduce to the glory of God; and in what manner we may as individuals, and as a nation, most effectually promote this subject."

Mr. Payton, the designer of the Crystal Palace, has written to Lord John Russell on the subject of admission to the exhibition He says of have to propose that, for the first fort" night of the exhibition, admission shall be, in every case, by payment. And further, that one day in the week (and, for many reasons, I shall select Wednesday,) shall, for venionce of a crowd. With these except which soon relieved and now has cured me. tions, that the entiance shall be entirely free.

Yours with respect. E. A. STEWART ALBANY, N. Y. April 17, 1848.
